

THE UNIVERSITY OF KANSAS
SCHOOL OF SOCIAL WELFARE

Student Presentation
Grading Sheet

Name: student 3Date: April 27, 2006

Category	Possible Points	Actual Points
In-Class Presentation:	75	75
Length 1 hour	5	5
Distributed bibliography w/ 3 additional readings / student	5	5
Presentation style	15	15
Engagement of classmates	15	15
Inclusion of diversity content	15	15
Critically evaluated readings & communicated mastery of knowledge to class	20	20
Written Reflection Paper:	25	25
Length of reflection paper between 1-2 pages	5	5
Strengths listed	5	5
Limitations noted	5	5
Revisions they would make on the presentation	5	5
Critique of classmates' evaluations	5	5
TOTAL POINTS:	100	100

... You and ---- did a great job with your presentation. You started with a good overview and gave good examples and good handouts. You both complimented each other throughout the presentation, interjecting thoughts and ideas when appropriate. It is obvious that there is a strong relationship between you two – one that I hope will continue in your careers. You covered a lot of material in a short amount of time and did it in an excellent manner that demonstrated your enthusiasm and knowledge about the subject. The survey distributed ahead of time with the results on the wall showed creativity and follow-through. Your creativity was also seen with the “fire” theme relating the burn out. Your graphics and connection to fire provided the necessary comic relief in handling the topic. Switching classrooms and using an experiential exercise was brilliant. You also had some interesting content on diversity issues that highlighted the importance for supervisors to be culturally sensitive when working with staff who might be burned out. At first, I thought you over relied on lecture and covered the material very quickly; however, you had a good balance with the experiential exercise with plenty of student participation. While you said you are nervous when speaking in front of groups, you did an excellent job and appeared relaxed and knowledgeable about the subject. Excellent work!