

ASTR 191 semester project

Seeking the answer to the fundamental question, "Are we alone in the universe," is the reason we search the cosmos for signs of intelligent life and the worlds that could support it. Many have been found, but so far there is no place like home.

This enduring question may never be answered, but our technology evolves and we come ever closer to learning who shares our universe. My project, a website built using the Wordpress blogging platform, explores the techniques and technology we use to find distant neighbors and how far we've gotten in the search.

Please go to <http://dmthomas1stword.wordpress.com> to see the complete project. If you are reading this in Word, press the Control key while clicking on the link above.