

Fall 2015 GTA Final Fridays

Center for Teaching Excellence, 135 Budig Hall

12:00 – 1:00 PM

This fall, CTE is hosting lunchtime workshops for experienced GTAs who want to discuss facets of teaching in higher education.

To participate in a session, register at cte@ku.edu at least two days before the event. A light lunch will be provided. Please note that space is limited. If you have any questions or need accommodations, contact Judy Eddy at jeddy@ku.edu.

August 28: Staying Sane in Graduate School

Suggestions about how to balance demands and choose among the opportunities you have as a graduate student. With Adrian Villicana, CTE/Psychology, and Mary Beth Woodson, CTE/Film & Media Studies.

September 25: Making the Most of Office Hours

Ways to make this effective, for you and your students. With Aaron Long, CTE/English.

October 30: Helping Students Read

Discover the difference between telling students to read an assignment, and actually helping them understand a text. With Rebekah Taussig, CTE/English.

November 20: Staying Sane at the End of the Semester

Learn some pointers from two experienced graduate students. With Jamie Kratky, Educational Psychology, and Mary Beth Woodson, CTE/Film & Media Studies.