

ARCH 560 – Site Design Map 5 – Synthesis

For your fifth map – you must choose a field studied previously examined. How can you re-examine that site based on the readings introduced later? How can you radically reconsider the site you've previously studied? All of the readings studied during the course of the semester can be used.

Graphically, you are free to choose any method of representing your analysis other than the method previously explored. You are also welcome to break from the graphic representational methods introduced in the course to develop your own method. Bear in mind – your method should be analytical, legible and visually compelling.