The temporal lobe is separated from the frontal and parietal lobes by the Correct Answer: Sylvian fissure.

Response Feedback: Correct! The Nervous System Extends throughout the Body, pp. 34–36
Which type of cell is responsible for myelination within the central nervous system?

Selected Answer: Schwann cells

Correct Answer: Oligodendrocytes

Response Feedback: Incorrect, see The Nervous System Is Composed of Cells, pp. 28–29