

Mgmt 310 - Org Behavior 61996, M, Feb. 19 Topic 6.2: Motivation: Needs theory and expectancy theory

Remaining time
Unlimited

The types of needs addressed in Alderfer's theory are

- existence, relatedness, and growth.
 - physiological, safety, and belonging.
 - esteem, relatedness, and group belonging.
 - physiological, belonging, and esteem.
-

Topic
Maslow's Hierarchy of Needs	3/3
Alderfer's ERG Theory	0/1
Expectancy theory	0/5

Your Answer:
Comment:

The types of needs addressed in Alderfer's theory are

INCORRECT

esteem, relatedness, and group belonging.

Alderfer's ERG theory builds on some of Maslow's thinking but reduces the number of universal needs from five to three and is more flexible in terms of movement between levels. See Table 6.3 on page 183 for the three types of needs addressed in Alderfer's theory.

Topic
Maslow's Hierarchy of Needs	3/3
Alderfer's ERG Theory	0/1
Expectancy theory	0/5

Your Answer:

The types of needs addressed in Alderfer's theory are

INCORRECT

physiological, safety, and belonging.

Comment:

Alderfer's ERG theory builds on some of Maslow's thinking but reduces the number of universal needs from five to three and is more flexible in terms of movement between levels. See Table 6.3 on page 183 for the three types of needs addressed in Alderfer's theory.

Topic
Maslow's Hierarchy of Needs	3/3
Alderfer's ERG Theory	1/1
Expectancy theory	0/5

Well done, you have met all the requirements in "Alderfer's ERG Theory".

The types of needs addressed in Alderfer's theory are

Your Answer: existence, relatedness, and growth.